

Boston August 1999

DAY SPA, City

Bella Santé A city spa should be an oasis—a lavender-scented curtain drawn between you and the press of daily life. With its vanilla-colored walls, soft classical music, and reception-area foot-massage units, Bella Santé transports you to a prettier place, where everyone glows. Formerly of Lexington, and now in the Spa on Newbury's former digs, Bella Santé offers terrific treatments, like the hot rock Reiki massage (despite the name, it doesn't hurt) and the champagne yeast facial (worth a toast). Macho Mondays bring in the boys with snacks and TV sports. 38 Newbury Street, Boston, 617-424-9930.